DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, for the reasons adequately set forth from paragraph 4 of the office action of January 22, 2007.

Applicant's arguments filed April 18, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the content of the instant application relates to a thermally curable, thixotropic mixture comprising carbamate and/or allophanate groups. Since US 7,098,257 refers to complementary groups, in terms of (meth)acrylate polymers, as groups that are reactive with acrylate and methacrylate polymers, applicants believe that the claimed "complementary" would have an ordinary meanings of "reactive with". However, the examiner disagrees because applicants' specification still fail to provide an accurate meaning for the claimed "complementary" feature.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
> (e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Voris et al. (US 7,056,522) for the reasons adequately set forth from paragraph 7 of the office action of January 22, 2007.

Applicant's arguments filed April 18, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that Voris et al. is not a good art for the instant rejection because it is an analogous art, in view of Voris et al. relate to a method for applying and delivering pesticides, insecticides and repellents to structure, surfaces of structures, and materials important to commerce and industry, and more particularly to polyurethane polymer systems. However, applicants must recognize that the instantly claimed invention relates to a mixture composition, not its intended uses. As long as Voris et al. adequately disclose the composition as claimed, the rejection set forth on January 22, 2007 is proper.

Regarding applicants' argument that Voris et al. teach allophanate as one of six possible types of crosslinking, and Voris et al. do not teach a mixture containing allophanate groups comprising both (A) at least one oligomer and/or polymer containing at least one allophanate group or contains one carbamate group or contains one carbamate group and at least one allophanate group, and (B) at least one thixotropic agent comprising a urea or a urea derivative prepared by reacting at least one amine and/or water with at least one polyisocyanate, the examiner disagrees because Voris et al. (col. 10, line 3-4) teach a system comprising six types of crosslinks, not six possible type of crosslinks. Regarding the claimed "mixture" feature, applicants must recognize that a polyurethane resin is inherently a mixture. Regarding the claimed "thixotropic agent", it is merely a recitation of the intended use of the feature taught in Voris et al. (col. 10, line 48-61). Applicants must recognize that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
